

Gray Reed & McGraw's David Gair Elected to Tax Section Council of State Bar of Texas

June 20, 2016

Gray Reed & McGraw tax attorney David Gair was recently elected to serve as a council member for the State Bar of Texas Tax Section.

Board certified in Tax Law by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization, Gair focuses his practice on tax matters and tax litigation, and handles complex international and domestic civil and criminal matters. He also has experience with administrative controversy work, often representing clients under criminal investigation, civil audit or with serious IRS collection concerns. David's practice also includes business and estate planning for entrepreneurs and businesses with a focus on minimizing all taxes.

The Tax Section of the State Bar of Texas is the only statewide tax bar association. It focuses on connecting those practicing tax law in Texas, and providing members with presentations on current topics of interest that qualify for continuing legal education credit.
