Gray Reed Named One of the Best Places to Work in 2016

October 28, 2016

Gray Reed & McGraw was honored as one of the “Best Places to Work in 2016” by the *Houston Business Journal* and the *Dallas Business Journal*.

The Houston office ranked 3rd in the large company category and was one of only three law firms recognized this year. The Dallas office ranked 14th in the medium company category, up five spots from 2015. Gray Reed has been ranked in the Best Places to Work list for seven of the last eight years, an honor the firm feels is reflective of its commitment to workplace culture.

“We are thrilled to receive this recognition because we believe it speaks to our values,” President and Managing Director Cary Gray says. “We support every member of our team as professionals and as individuals because it helps us to better serve our clients.”

The Best Places to Work Lists are compiled by independent research firm Quantum Workplace, which sent a survey to employees of hundreds of nominated companies in each city. Quantum then compiled scores based on worker retention and attraction strategies, corporate culture, amenities and benefits.
