

Gabe Vick Joins Gray Reed & McGraw

June 29, 2010

Gray Reed & McGraw welcomes Gabe Vick as an associate to its Houston office. Mr. Vick has experience representing plaintiffs and defendants in state and federal courts, and has successfully handled various matters including cases of personal injury, complex commercial litigation, toxic torts, class actions, product liability, contractual disputes, employer/employee disputes, premises liability, and maritime claims. Mr. Vick has tried several cases to verdict and obtained favorable results for individuals and businesses across the country.

Mr. Vick obtained his B.A. from Texas A&M University and his J.D. from South Texas College of Law. He is active in various state and local bar activities and serves on the South Texas College of Law Young Alumni Council. While in law school, Mr. Vick was a member of the South Texas Law Review, a Director for the Board of Advocates, and was the 2006 ATLA mock trial national champion.
