Associate

Clients throughout Texas rely on Emily Radke to advise on all aspects of estate, gift and generation-skipping tax planning, as well as trust and estate administration and related matters. She develops tailored solutions for clients with diverse estate planning needs and goals, ranging from high-net-worth individuals and families that want to protect substantial assets, real property and business interests, to young spouses and parents with smaller estates who need a comprehensive will. Emily is Board Certified in Estate Planning & Probate Law by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization.

Emily's estate planning practice includes counseling clients on their unique goals and preparing wills, trusts, incapacity planning documents, and estate and gift tax returns. A large part of her practice is devoted to using sophisticated estate planning techniques to help high-net-worth clients transfer and preserve wealth through multiple generations, minimize transfer taxes and fulfill their charitable objectives. As her clients' circumstances and needs change over time, Emily helps them understand the operation of their existing estate plans and prepares modifications when necessary to achieve their new goals and make their lives easier.

In addition to planning, Emily guides executors, trustees and beneficiaries through each phase of the estate administration process, including the probating of uncontested wills. She also has substantial experience in trust administration matters and has represented both trustees and beneficiaries in numerous trust modification proceedings.
