

Construction

At Gray Reed, we believe that effectively representing construction businesses requires an industry based practice. It's not enough to know the law—you need to know the industry, how it operates and how a project progresses.

Depth of Experience Within Our Construction Law Practice

- Our construction law practice was recognized in the U.S. News & World Report and Best Lawyers' 2019 "Best Law Firms" ranking.
- One attorney is listed as a 2019 Best Lawyer in America (a Woodward/White company) in the field of construction law.
- Three attorneys were named 2018 Rising Stars by Texas Super Lawyers Magazine (a Thomson Reuters company) in the field of construction litigation.
- One attorney is currently serving his fourth term in the Texas House of Representatives and is an advocate for the construction industry.
- One attorney was a civil engineer before attending law school.
- Our lawyers are frequent authors and lecturers on construction law topics and contribute to the firm's Texas Construction Law Blog.

Our Services

As a full service firm, we are uniquely positioned to effectively represent and counsel construction industry businesses beyond routine or the most complex construction matters. When a client's need goes beyond the expertise or jurisdiction of a construction law attorney, our firm has access to global resources and a construction industry team made up of attorneys with a range of practices all focused towards the construction industry allowing us to help solve nearly any issue that a client may encounter such as corporate, labor and employment, tax, real estate, employee benefits and executive compensation, bankruptcy, and commercial litigation matters.

Our attorneys provide a broad range of services to contractors, state and local governments, and private parties engaged in construction transactions, dispute resolution and government procurement. We assist construction industry clients with acquisitions, project development and finance, contract formation, project management and "real time" advice, claims preparation and resolution, mechanics liens and payment bond claims, open account collections, OSHA, regulatory and licensing matters, labor and employment issues, environment compliance,

MBE/WBE/DBE requirements, suretyship, mediation, arbitration and alternative dispute resolution proceedings, and litigation.

Our scope of work is as broad as yours.

Our Experience

Our attorneys provide a full range of legal services to contractors and owners ranging from small, family-owned businesses to ENR Top 400 Contractors, state and local government agencies and Fortune 500 Corporations.

We have worked with clients on a wide variety of projects ranging from highways and bridges to airports and mass transit to power plants and cogeneration facilities to hospitals, hotels, golf courses and more. Our clientele and trade representation is just as diverse, including owners, developers, general contractors, specialty subcontractors, equipment and material suppliers, governmental and quasi-governmental entities, and municipalities. Trades represented include concrete, glazing, plumbing, electrical, roofing, construction management, civil construction, metal fabrication, remediation, site work and underground utilities.

Why Construction Clients Feel at Home at Gray Reed

Your experience with our construction law attorneys will be fully aligned with your goals and objectives and tailored specifically to how you want to do business with us. Our lawyers are adaptable and nimble – you will never be forced into a box that doesn't fit your opportunity or problem, or your needs and desires. No matter the issue that may arise from conception through completion of even the most complex construction projects and business operations, you'll be comfortable with our skill and practical approach. We know exactly when to turn up the heat and when collaboration is the smartest way for you to achieve your goals.