

Adjunct Faculty

PROFILE

Pat Souter

Pat Souter is a Baylor alumnus through and through—he received an undergraduate degree from Baylor University’s Hankamer School of Business and a law degree from Baylor Law School. He now serves as an adjunct faculty member for both Hankamer and Baylor Law.

“When Baylor Law asked me to teach a class on healthcare law 22 years ago, I did not think twice about accepting,” said Souter. “The opportunity allowed me to give back to Baylor as well as serve as a mentor to students, like that of what my mentor, Andrew Meyercord, provided to me. I started off teaching one class at the Law School, but as the healthcare industry evolved, I started teaching multiple classes at Baylor Law and at Hankamer.”

Souter teaches Healthcare Law, Healthcare Fraud and Abuse, and Regulation of Healthcare Professionals at Baylor Law. At Hankamer, Souter teaches Business Law and Healthcare Law in the Executive MBA Program and Healthcare Law and Ethics in the full-time MBA program. “I value the classroom experience with the students,” said Souter. “Class discussions will result in debates that far exceed the pages of a textbook or a court’s opinion, providing an interesting perspective on how society views healthcare in this country that you do not get from the practice of law.”

Outside of his heavy teaching load, Souter is of counsel at Gray Reed & McGraw LLP in Dallas. He is board certified in health law and has co-authored two books, Physician Law Evolving Trends and Hot Topics 2017 and Representing Physicians, Fourth Edition.

He is involved in the Dallas Bar Association, American Health Lawyers Association, and the Texas Health Lawyers Association, where he served as president in 2017. Souter also is working on his LL.M. in healthcare law.

“I am able to balance the practice of law, teaching courses for Baylor, and finishing an LL.M. due to the assistance and understanding of my colleagues at Gray Reed & McGraw and at Baylor,” he said. “I could not do it without my wife, Lori. Her unwavering support allows me to balance the time it takes to have a law practice and teach at Baylor because she knows how much I enjoy it.”
